

We NEED more options for internet accessss especially in the rural areas. I have been trying to get ISDN out to my weekend home for years, with no luck. I would like to make this my main home, but without decent internet access and my current job it is not practical. SBC does not seem to be interested at all in upgrading the service in the area. Internet access over powerlines would at least provide another possible option.